Sojourn Cellars produces highest Wine Spectator rated Sonoma Valley AVA Cabernet Sauvignon since 2004

SONOMA, CA, August 16, 2013 – Sonoma Valley based Sojourn Cellars is at the forefront of luxury when it comes to crafting the highest quality wines. Sojourn produces wine from some of the most celebrated vineyards throughout Sonoma and Napa Counties.

Sojourn seeks to express each vineyard and vintage in the bottle. This couldn't be more true than with the 2010 Home Ranch Vineyard, Sonoma Valley Cabernet Sauvignon.

Rated 93 points by Wine Spectator, this wine is “generous and appealing, offering juicy red berry, licorice and raspberry touches, firming on the finish, where the flavors sail on.” – James Laube

The Home Ranch is the highest rated Sonoma Valley Cabernet Sauvignon since 2004. This wine was made from proprietor Craig Haserot's vineyard adjacent to his home in Sonoma. It was planted by Haserot in 2002 and is located at the southwestern edge of Sonoma Valley.

The 2010 summer was so cool that Haserot made an early decision to crop back the vines to one cluster per shoot. This proved to be the right decision, as it allowed the vines to focus their limited energy on ripening the remaining clusters. The grapes were picked in late October at optimal ripeness. The resulting Home Ranch Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon is opulent, concentrated and expressive.

Winemaker, Erich Bradley, states “this is a fantastic example of how opulent Sonoma Cab can be when meticulous farming and minimalistic winemaking come together.”

Even though Sojourn is best known for producing highly sought after Pinot noir, they consistently produce high quality and highly rated Cabernet Sauvignon.

In addition to the Home Ranch Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon, Sojourn produces vineyard designate Cabernet Sauvignon wines from famed Napa Valley Beckstoffer Vineyard Georges III, Spring Mountain District and Oakville Ranch.
